MCI CENTER

MCI CENTER

In keeping with the 24-year tradition of innovation established by his US Airways Arena in Landover, Maryland, Abe Pollin opened the "state-of-the art" MCI Center on December 2, 1997. The building is home to the Mystics, the NBA's Washington Wizards, the NHL's Washington Capitals plus big-time entertainment, cultural and sporting events. MCI Center, located at 7th and F Streets NW, has recently hosted the 2002 NCAA Men's Basketball Eastern Regional First/Second Rounds, Britney Spears, Bruce Springsteen, Cher and countless others. The 2003 World Figure Skating Championships were held here and the 2005 ACC Men's basketball tournament.will be hosted there.

In addition to the entertainment taking place inside MCI Center, the arena also offers a number of other options for patrons to enjoy themselves. Before a game or event, fans can shop at Modell's team store or choose from a variety of retaurants to dine, some with direct access to the arena such as Nick and Staf's Steakhouse and the F Street Bar & Grill. MCI Center also recently added McDonald's and Chipotle to its list of restaurants.

MCI Center welcomes area residents and millions of tourists to a unique combination of sports, entertainment and interactivity every day, all day.

WASHINGTON MYSTICS

Host of the WNBA's best fans, the Washington Mystics have made history playing in MCI Center. The five-time WNBA Attendance Champions started off on the right foot, when on June 19, 1998 the first ever Mystics home game drew the largest crowd ever to watch a professional women's basketball game in the United States. That night the Mystics were introduced to the WNBA's best fans, ones that would earn them its WNBA Attendance Championships. The crowd of 20,674 included Tipper Gore, the wife of former Vice President Al Gore, Former Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, Former Secretary of Health and Human Services Donna Shalala, Senator Barbara Mikulski, and Congresswoman Eleanor Holmes Norton.

The team's success has continued over its six-year history as the Mystics have steadily attracted recorded setting crowds. May 8th, 2001, Washington became the first WNBA team to host one million fans in just four seasons of play. Following the 2001 season, the Mystics set another record by averaging 16,202 fans, the highest average in WNBA history.

MCI CENTER

ACELA CLUB

The Acela Club is the fine dining restaurant destination for club seat and suite holders at MCI Center. Operated by Chicago's Levy Restaurants, its appeal is great food, attentive service and an attractive ambiance in both a restaurant and bar setting. An open view of the event floor compliments an extensive menu of diverse food and beverage offerings available for pre-game, game-time and post-game dining and entertaining.

F STREET SPORTSBAR

Patrons can venture upstairs in MCI Center to the upscale sports bar, F Street Sportsbar. Maintaining the theme of sophistication, F Street Sportsbar has trimmed the room with blonde wood accents and gunmetal chrome, lining the edge of the bars, complimenting it with the charcoal gray leather sofas. Televisions are strategically located around the bar to view games. Whether it is a live band , a live broadcast of the Wizards or a stand-up comedian, F Street Sportsbar is never a dull moment.

MODELL'S

The nation's oldest and largest family-owned sports and apparel retailer, Modell's Sporting Goods opened its first ever "Team Store" in MCI Center. This new concept store features a complete line of Mystics, Wizards, and Capitals merchandise plus apparel from teams across the country. Founded in 1889, Modell's operates more than 70 stores, including seven locally, with more expansion planned, offering a full line of athletic equipment, shoes and apparel.

NICK AND STEF'S STEAKHOUSE

This is Nick and Stef's fourth year in Washington, located in MCI Center. The first Nick and Stef's Steakhouse was opened in Los Angeles in October 1999, by acclaimed chef Joachim Splichal, creator of Patina, Los Angeles' most popular restaurant. Nick and Stef's, named after Splichal's twin sons, opened to rave reviews, and is the talk of the town. Nick and Stef's has an extensive wine list, featuring wines from California and abroad, as well as an in depth list of half bottles and large format bottles. Nick and Stef's is open for lunch and dinner.

MYSTICS MYSTIQUE

Mystics Identity

Seven years ago, Abe Pollin was faced with the task of creating an identity for his newly acquired WNBA team. Looking into the heart of the Wizards, Pollin was able to draw upon their magical elements and, on December 16, 1997, the Washington Mystics were born.

Coinciding with Wizards, Mystics are visionaries and the name symbolizes the wise and spiritual aura of the team. While denoting power, the name also alludes to the transcendence of the team, the organization and the city that they represent.

The Mystics share with the Wizards the colors of blue, black and bronze which present richness throughout the logo while demonstrating the dynamic nature of the team. The logo itself is intricate and bold. It is a shield surrounded and complimented by a series of curves with the team name prominently displayed across the center. The logo is given a sense of movement with a smoking basketball swooshing through a hoop at the top. This design also emphasizes the element of fantasy throughout the team's image.

A second logo, also shared with the Wizards, consists of the letters "dc" with a basketball dangling from the top. This logo is meant to place emphasis on MCI Center and Washington, DC, the home of the Mystics.

Mystics Mascot - Charm

With a team as dynamic as the Mystics it was necessary to find a mascot to compliment the team's passion and fun the Mystics bring to MCI Center. Abe Pollin turned to the magical powers of G-Wiz, the Wizards mascot, in order to create a fun-loving, spunky character who would cheer on the Mystics. On May 31, 2000, Charm was introduced to the city of Washington.

In order to create a perfect mascot for the Mystics, G-Wiz searched high and low for the right ingredients. Looking for style, athleticism, honesty and loyalty he turned to fellow Washingtonians to give Charm the qualities that the team was looking for in their new mascot. Mayor Williams contributed style with a bow tie while Charm's athletic ability comes from a pair of sneakers given from the Wizards. A top hat from Abe Lincoln gives a sense of honesty, and a D.C. flag donated by Congresswoman Eleanor Holmes Norton represents loyalty. This 5 foot, 10 inch tall Rabbit loves carrots, kids, and of course, the Mystics.

Charm is anxious to return to center court and motivate the WNBA's best crowd with her enthusiasm and zany antics. She also started the 2002 season leading the Mystics first Official Fan Club, the Mystics Kids Court. During home games, look out for Charm and Mini Charm to bring their special brand of Mystics mischief and spirit to your seat at the MCI Center.

MYSTICS MYSTIQUE

Mystics Mayhem

Charm is not the only one who wants to bring pep and excitement to the court this season. The Mystics Mayhem will be at every home game cheering on the team and entertaining the crowd. The Mayhem consists of 25-30 boys and girls from ages 7-18 who love to give the Mystics' fans a great show. These youngsters perform to pump up the crowd and show the true spirit of the Washington Mystics. With new dances and funky moves, this group of kids is ready to bring enthusiasm and excitement to the court this season.

FRONT OFFICE

Abe & Irene POLLIN Owners, WSELP

Abe and Irene Pollin enter their 40th year of National Basketball Association ownership in 2004-05 as the longest tenured owners in the NBA. Since becoming owners in 1964, the Pollins have watched the NBA become the standard by which all other professional sports leagues are measured, exploding in growth from a small, regional league to a worldwide presence on the business landscape.

In their distinguished career, Abe and Irene Pollin have been at the center of every major issue in the NBA during their time at the helm of the Washington Bullets/Wizards. In 1978, they reached the pinnacle of the NBA as their Bullets, behind the play of Wes Unseld, Elvin Hayes and Bob Dandridge, defeated Seattle and brought a World Championship to Washington.

As the majority owners of Washington Sports & Entertainment Limited Partnership, Abe and Irene Pollin oversee the operations of the Washington Wizards, Washington Mystics, MCI Center, Ticketmaster - the Washington/Baltimore ticketing service, in-house promoter Musicentre Productions and management of the George Mason University Patriot Center.

Thirty years ago, the Pollins opened the Capital Centre in Landover, Maryland, the new home for their Baltimore Bullets, and applied for a National Hockey League expansion franchise. The Capital Centre opened on December 2, 1973, and it was what MCI Center is today - a state-of-the-art sports and entertainment facility that became the standard for new arenas throughout the world.

The Capital Centre, aptly named by Irene Pollin, was built in a record 15 months and boasted a host of unique features including electronic ticketing, one-of-a-kind luxury suite accommodations and the never-seen-before Telescreen. It was the premier arena in its time, hosting a wide range of events from sporting events to concerts and even presidential galas. But as time and the sports and entertainment industry changed, the Pollins realized that their teams were no longer playing in the "best" facility in their respective leagues. In 1964, when the Pollins and two partners purchased the Baltimore Bullets, they had dreams that someday the team would play in a brand-new facility in the Nation's Capital. Now they had another opportunity to make their dreams reality.

After the long years of planning and then building MCI Center, the Pollins watched as their dreams came true on December 2, 1997, when a sellout crowd filled MCI Center to watch the Wizards host the arena's first event. Since that time, over 15 million people have spun the turnstiles at MCI Center to be a part of over 1,230 concerts and sporting events, and the downtown area has sprung to life.

"I had two goals when I decided to build this building," said Abe Pollin. "The first was that if I was building in downtown Washington, the nation's capital, it had to be the best building of its kind in the country. The second was to be the catalyst that turned the city around. I risked everything that I ever accumulated in my life to be able to finance this place privately. I felt that I was the only one available that could do something for, and give something back to, the city that had been good to me all my life."

As the Wizards completed their first season at MCI Center, the Pollins' WNBA franchise, the Washington Mystics, were making history of their own. The Mystics made their MCI Center debut on June 19, 1998, against the Utah Starzz in front of 20,674 fans -- the largest crowd ever to attend a women's professional basketball game in the United States.

The sports industry is full of astute business professionals, but what distinguishes Abe and Irene Pollin from their peers is their commitment to social responsibility. They share a passionate need to give back to the community and have made helping people a way of life. Their philanthropic and humanitarian endeavors know no bias or boundaries, which is evident by the numerous public service and community organizations to which they selflessly devote enormous time and energy.

Abe Pollin serves as the Chairman of the Advisory Council, is Honorable Chairman of the Salvation Army's Leadership Committee for Centers of Hope and Co-Chair of the Community Capital Campaign for N Street Village in the District. He is also the co-sponsor of the "I Have a Dream Foundation" and personally guaranteed a college education for 55 students.

Over the past year, Abe Pollin has initiated several projects, including the Washington Sports and Entertainment Education Fund to provide assistance in furthering the education of the children of the victims of September 11th.

Over the summer of 2002, Pollin discovered the plight of Washington, D.C. area children who relied on the D.C. Summer School programs for their meals. With budget cuts in the District, Pollin realized over 22,000 children would be without meals during the week and weekends and quickly began a fundraising campaign to raise $3 million to pay for the food. Pollin then brought together the D.C. School System, America's Second Harvest and the Capital Area Food Bank to design a program to feed the kids.

"I was taught my giving nature through my parents," said Pollin. "I grew up in a house where both my parents were very much involved in helping others and my philosophy is that those of us who are on the giving end rather than the receiving end are very lucky. It's very important that we help others that are less fortunate then we are."

Not surprisingly, recognition of the Pollins' record and accomplishments are just as impressive as the deeds they acknowledge. The past few years have been landmark ones for Pollin, as he has received numerous awards and accolades recognizing his accomplishments in professional sports and contributions to community service.

FRONT OFFICE

Recently, Pollin has been the recipient of the Distinguished Civilian Service Award, presented by the US Army, the 1996 Robert F. Kennedy-Martin Luther King, Jr. Award, presented by Coalition to Stop Gun Violence, the 1996 United Cerebral Palsy Achievement Award and the 1997 Jewish Leadership Award.

As if the years of experience with the Bullets/Wizards, Capital Centre and MCI Center were not challenging enough, Irene Pollin is a noted health care professional with over 28 years of experience in the field. In 1976, she created the first Medical Crisis Counseling Center developed to treat patients and families coping with chronic illness. Since then she has developed Medical Crisis Counseling Centers at Washington Hospital Center as well as additional facilities in surrounding communities.

In addition, Irene Pollin has also forged a dynamic reputation as a psychiatric social worker and lecturer in the department of psychiatry at Harvard University. As president and founder of the Linda and Kenneth Pollin Foundation, she serves on a number of national advisory boards and commissions in the field of mental health and women's health, and is the founder and chairperson of the Sister to Sister - Everyone Has a Heart Foundation, an organization whose aim is to increase women's awareness of heart disease and provide free cardiac screenings.

She has served as a board member of numerous organizations such as the American Cancer Society, Smithsonian Institution, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, National Kidney Foundation, the Multiple Sclerosis Society, the Society for Women's Health Research, National Cancer Institute, National Rehabilitation Hospital, the National Institute of Mental Health, the U.S. Committee for the Washington, D.C. United Nations Fund for Women, the National Institutes for Health Foundation and the Office of Women's Health at NIH. Outside of the health field, Mrs. Pollin has served on the board for the National Symphony Orchestra and the Washington Opera. In addition, she has given back to her alma mater, serving on the Board of American University for 11 years, the American University Executive Committee and the Development Committee at AU and was the guiding force behind the development of the new AU Library.

Abe Pollin moved with his family to the Washington area from Philadelphia when he was eight. He graduated from The George Washington University in 1945 and went to work for his family's construction company for 12 years. Irene Pollin, a native of St. Louis, received a Bachelor's Degree from American University, and then earned a Master's Degree in Social Work from Catholic University. In 1957, the Pollins launched their own construction company and, as a local contractor, built several large apartment houses and office buildings, one of which featured the first-ever rooftop pool in Washington.

Quick to admit that we are put on earth to do much more than just take care of ourselves, the Pollins vision is matched only by their willingness to help improve the quality of life in this community and around the world. After 40 years in the business, the Pollins continue to bring innovation to the industry and display their knack for accomplishing the "impossible".

Together, Abe and Irene Pollin established the Pollin Prize for Pediatric Research, administered by New York Presbyterian Hospital. The first Pollin Prize was awarded November 15, 2002 to four international scientists for their work in Oral Rehydration Therapy, hailed as the most important medical discovery of the 20th century.

Most recently, the Pollins purchased an historic synagogue only blocks away from MCI Center, along with businessmen Shelton Zuckerman and Douglas Jemal, in order to save it from its demise as a nightclub. Originally built in 1908, this synagogue was also used as a church up until 2002. Realizing its historic importance, they restored and renovated the synagogue to its original architectural grandeur in order to house services, events and social gatherings for all people within the Jewish community and local DC community. Today the building is once again open to the public and officially rededicated as the Sixth & I Historic Synagogue.

The Pollins live in Bethesda, Maryland. They are avid travelers and enjoy spending time with their children and grandchildren. Their oldest son, Robert, lives in Amherst, MA with his wife Sigrid, where they are both professors at the University of Massachusetts. Robert, an economics professor, and Sigrid, an architect, have two daughters, Emma and Hannah. The Pollins' younger son, James, owns Leviathan Meeting Innovations in Landover, MD.

FRONT OFFICE

Susan O'MALLEY

President

As the first female President of an NBA franchise, Susan O'Malley can be considered a pioneer for women in sports. True to her determined and success driven nature, she saw the benefits women's professional basketball could bring to Washington and was a valuable proponent for the Mystics.

O'Malley can be credited with five WNBA Attendance Championships, as well as helping bring the league's premiere event, the WNBA All-Star Game to the MCI Center in 2002. Continuing her nothing-less-than-the-best strategy, in 2002, O'Malley hired one of the most experienced coaches in basketball when she named Pat Summitt Player Personnel Consultant.

A respected leader and motivator, O'Malley has risen through the ranks to the top of Washington Sports and Entertainment. As President, she oversees all business operations for the Washington Mystics and Wizards. In addition, she is responsible for overseeing MCI Center Operations, Entertainment and New Business Development, Finance, Human Resources/Payroll Services, Marketing, Team Operations, and TicketMaster.

Once an intern with the Bullets and Capitals, O'Malley joined the organization in 1986 as Director of Advertising. Since that time, her ground breaking business ideas and proactive approach to customer service has brought her, and Washington Sports and Entertainment to the top of the sports business world.

Named President on May 9, 1991, O'Malley took an organization ranked last to its counterparts in close to every category, and initiated policies and procedures that have formed positive relationships with ticket holders, corporate sponsors, and the media. In her first season handling off-court activities, the team experienced the largest ticket revenue in the history of an NBA franchise. In addition, that year, the club achieved the highest renewal rate of season tickets ever by the franchise, including the year following the 1977-78 Championship season.

O'Malley's magic has carried over to the Mystics organization as well, making it one of the most successful teams in the WNBA. She and her staff committed themselves to family entertainment and community service since the inception of the team and the hard work has paid off. Since the inaugural season in 1998, the Mystics have built a fan base that has led the league in attendance five-out-of-six seasons and welcomed more than one million spectators through the turnstiles of MCI Center.

A skilled motivator, O'Malley created a spirited, results-oriented work environment that has been emulated in professional sports. While she demands hard work and determination from her staff, she has been rewarded with loyalty - her core management team, assembled by O'Malley when she assumed control of Washington Sports, remains intact 15-years later. Her motivational methods are much sought-after, as she has become an often-requested speaker for civic, academic, and corporate groups. O'Malley spent two memorable years sharing her invaluable experience with Georgetown University Business School students teaching an extremely popular Sports Marketing Class. During her tenure at Georgetown, she was named Adjunct Professor of the Year.

O'Malley is a strong advocate of community service, having served on the boards for numerous charitable organizations as well as spending countless hours raising funds for numerous deserving causes. For her commitment to youth, O'Malley was the recipient of the Americanism Award from the Alexandria-Olympic Boys and Girls Club in 1997.

From a young age, O'Malley has always known her path in life. As a grade school student, she wrote a paper declaring her goal was to run a sports franchise. Her teacher deemed the goal "unrealistic," but O'Malley was not swayed. After graduating in 1983 with a Bachelor of Science degree in business and finance from Mt. St. Mary's College, O'Malley worked for the Earle Palmer Brown Advertising firm for three years before joining the Bullets in 1986, and worked for two seasons in the advertising department before being promoted to Executive Vice President and took control of the business operations of the franchise.

O'Malley resides in Alexandria, VA.

Judy HOLLAND BURTON

Senior Vice President of Business and Basketball Operations

With over 20 years with the organization, Judy Holland Burton was named the Senior Vice President of Business and Basketball Operations for the Washington Mystics prior to the 2002 season. In this position, she oversees the daily operations of the basketball department such as scouting, scheduling, travel, trades, community relations and promotional opportunities.

As a vital member of the team that launched the Mystics in 1998, she has lent her business skills to creating and developing numerous opportunities for the Mystics over the past six years.

Holland Burton also oversees the Community Relations Department as Senior Vice President of Community Relations for Washington Sports and Entertainment. The Community Relations Department is responsible for such acclaimed ventures as the Wizards Anti-Violence Campaign, the teams court resurfacing projects and the "Pick and Roll" reading program.

In an immediate response to the attacks of September 11th, Holland Burton and her staff immediately set up the Washington Sports and Entertainment Education fund. The fund was set up to benefit the children who lost a parent or guardian in the Pentagon tragedy. Special events set up to raise money for the fund included the Washington Sports and Entertainment Strike for Education Celebrity Bowling Tournament, which brought together celebrities from all over the country, including Chris Tucker and Vivica Fox, with Wizards players and fans.

Holland Burton was named the Vice President of Community Relations for the Bullets in 1991 and was responsible for the Bullets Stay in School program. In addition, she coordinated the Bullets Wives Save Lives Campaign. This initiative became a national program that was adopted by the NBA to promote early detection as a life saving tool against breast cancer. Holland Burton also served as the team's Community Relations Director for three seasons and was hired as a Public Relations Assistant. Holland Burton is a member of the Board of Directors for the Greater Washington Urban League; the Board of Directors for the USO of Metropolitan Washington; and the Prince George's County Literacy Works Foundation.

A graduate of Hampton Institute in Virginia, Holland Burton earned a degree in Mass Media Communication. Following graduation she was a staff writer for the Frederick News and Post where she worked for two years before joining the Bullets. A native of Frederick, MD, Holland Burton now resides in Bowie, MD with her husband Michael.

Pat SUMMITT

Player Personnel Consultant

On April 4th, 2002, President of Washington Sports and Entertainment Susan O'Malley appointed Pat Summitt to serve as Player Personnel Consultant for the Washington Mystics. As the Mystics consultant, Summitt is responsible for evaluating the team, developing the Mystics player talent, representing the team during the WNBA Draft and advising on all player personnel matters such as trades and waivers.

Summitt brings to the Mystics 30 years of collegiate and international coaching experience, a winning record and a prestigious list of accolades that includes induction to both the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame and the National Basketball Hall of Fame. In 2000, Summitt was named Naismith Coach of the Century.

Head Coach of the University of Tennessee's Lady Vols women's basketball team, Summitt has led her team to a record 15 NCAA Final Four appearances. She recently led her team to the 2004 NCAA National Championship game against Connecticut. Summitt also reached a milestone when, with a 76-57 win over Depaul on January 14, 2003, she picked up her 800th career win, making her the first woman to reach this milestone. She currently ranks as the fifth winningest basketball coach of all time spanning all divisions, with an 852-167 record.

Some of Summitt's victories include 23 SEC tournaments and regular season championships and six NCAA titles (1987, 1989, 1991, 1996, 1997 and 1998); her teams have played in and recorded the most NCAA tournament victories in history. Summitt's record of six NCAA Championships is second only to UCLA's John Wooden who captured 10 during his career. Her last three championships were the first back-to-back-to-back victories in women's NCAA history and featured the play of Olympic gold medalist, five-time WNBA All-Star and Mystics forward Chamique Holdsclaw.

Summitt's success has spanned over nearly three decades. She started coaching in 1974 and since then has packed her legendary career with an unparalleled number of accomplishments. Shortly after graduating from the University of Tennessee-Martin where, as a junior, she played on her first U.S. national team, Summitt accepted a graduate teaching assistantship and the head coaching position at the University of Tennessee-Knoxville, beginning the legendary marriage between coach and team. In 1976, while continuing to coach the Lady Vols, she capped off her playing career by making the U.S. Olympic Team and helping that team capture a silver medal at the Montreal Games.

Summitt expanded her international experience in the game of basketball when, just a year after having competed as a player in the Olympics, she was given head coaching duties of the U.S. Junior National team in 1977, also the first year the Lady Vols reached the NCAA Final Four with a 28-5 overall record. Summitt also served as head coach for the U.S. National Team; leading both squads to many gold medal victories. In 1984, she led the U.S. Olympic Team to its first women's basketball gold medal in her home country during the Los Angeles Summer Games.

In the years that Summitt has accumulated the numerous wins, regular season titles, conference titles, NCAA championships, international and Olympic medals, she can additionally boast to having developed and coached an outstanding crop of women athletes.

Complementing her induction into the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame in 1999, she became just the fourth women's basketball coach to be inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 2000. Summitt was also named Naismith College Coach of the Year in 1987, 1989, 1994 and 1998 and Naismith College Coach of the Century in 2000. She was the WBCA/Converse Coach of the Year in 1983 and 1995 and the IKON/WBCA Coach of the Year in 1998. Summitt was recently named the SEC Coach of the Year for the 2003-2004 season.

Summitt's off the court life is just as full as her time in the gym. She is devoted to a number of community organizations and causes including the United Way, the Race for the Cure, Saint Jude's Children's Hospital, the Helen RossMcNabb Mental Health Center and Habitat for Humanity. Summitt has served as a Vice President of USA Basketball and an Olympic representative on the Advisory Committee to USA Basketball. She currently holds the position of Associate Athletics Director at the University of Tennessee and is a member of the Board of Directors for the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame.

Summitt, a native of Henrietta, Tenn., also devotes time to her son Tyler and her husband R.B., making their home on the banks of the Tennessee River.

BASKETBALL STAFF

Michael ADAMS
Head Coach

Michael Adams, a familiar face to many Washington-area basketball fans, enters his first season as the head coach of the Washington Mystics for the upcoming 2004 season. Adams brings 14 years of professional experience to the organization, as both a player and a coach.

One of the best 3-point shooters in NBA history, Adams spent 11 seasons as a player in the NBA, including stints with Sacramento, Washington (1986-87 and 1991-94), Denver, and Charlotte, compiling career averages of 14.7 points and 6.7 assists and 2.9 rebounds per contest. He led the NBA in 3-point field goals during the 1987-88 and 1990-91 seasons, and made at least one 3-point field goal in 79 consecutive games over the 1988 and 1989 seasons, placing him second all-time in the NBA's record books behind (fellow Boston College alum) Dana Barros' 89. Adams had his best season in 1990-91, when he averaged 26.5 points and 10.5 assists. In 1992, as a member of the Bullets, Adams was selected to the Eastern Conference All-Star team. That year he finished third in the fan voting for the starting spot. After retiring from the NBA in 1996, Adams was a radio and television analyst for the Bullets. He joined the coaching ranks in 1999, serving as assistant head coach of the International Basketball League's Richmond Rhythm and leading that team to the 1999 Championship Game. In 2000, he returned to the NBA as an assistant coach with the Vancouver Grizzlies, moving with the team to Memphis until the end of the 2001-2002 season.

During his four years at Boston College, Adams enjoyed a stellar collegiate career, leaving as that school's fifth-leading scorer before being selected in the third round of the 1985 NBA Draft by the Sacramento Kings. Adams earned a Bachelor's degree in Communications from Boston College, and his jersey was retired there in 1999. Before reaching college, he had been a standout high school player at Hartford Public High School, including honors as an All-Stater in 1981, and All-Capital District Conference for three years. In 2002, Adams was inducted into the Hartford Public High School Athletic Hall of Fame for basketball. In December 1999, Sports Illustrated named Adams one of the 50 Greatest Connecticut Sports Figures.

Mystics' fans will quickly recognize Adams as a hard worker and dedicated leader who will focus on making sure that the team is competitive on every outing. Team consultant, Pat Summitt, describes Adams as a player who was a " fierce competitor" and, who, in his new role, is predicted to be "a passionate coach that strives to bring out the best in each player." Adams looks forward to recharging the Mystics and building on the strength of the team's existing core of players, as well as the 2004-2005 acquisitions. He expects to build on what he has learned under his own coaches as a player, as well as an assistant in the professional ranks.

A native of Hartford, Connecticut, is the youngest son of nine children. He makes his home in Mitchellville, Maryland. Off the court, he has been active in many community-based activities over the years, including coaching his son's youth basketball teams and volunteering for other local organizations. His 11-year old son, Michael Christian, is another budding point guard. Adams also enjoys a tough challenge on the billiards table.

Linda HARGROVE

Assistant Coach

Prior to joining the Mystics scouting staff, Hargrove was the Head Coach/General Manager of the WNBA's Portland Fire for three seasons (2000-2002). Before the team folded in 2002, she led the Fire to a 16-16 record in its last season. In 1997, Hargrove served a brief stint with the Long Beach Stingrays of the American Basketball League where she was responsible for drafting elite players such as Yolanda Griffith, currently with the Sacramento Monarchs.

Prior to her professional experience, Hargrove spent 26 years at the collegiate level, coaching at Cowley County Community College in Kansas and Wichita State where she led the team to its first Missouri Valley Conference Championship in 1997. Hargrove was also an Assistant Coach for both the 1990 U.S. Senior National Team and the 1992 Bronze medal winning U.S. Olympic team.

Hargrove graduated in 1975 from Southwestern College in Kansas and received a master's degree in education in 1985 from Wichita State. Since 1992, Hargrove has been a member of the Southwestern College Athletic Hall of Fame and was inducted to the National Junior College Athletic Association Hall of Fame in 2000.

Ledell EACKLES

Assistant Coach

Ledell Eackles returns for a third season witht the Washington Mystics. A former NBA player, he has most recently served as a Scout for the Mystics and Washington Wizards. Eackles assists the Mystics in scouting player talent for the WNBA Draft. Prior to becoming a Scout for the Mystics and Wizards, he played overseas in Israel for two seasons (1999-2000, 2000-2001).

Drafted in the second round (36th overall) by the Washington Bullets, Eackles played off-and-on for Washington from 1988-1999. Over the course of six seasons, he averaged 11.3 points per game, 2.3 rebounds per game and shot 44.5% from the field.

A native of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, Eackles graduated from the University of New Orleans in 1988. In two seasons at UNO (1986-88), he averaged 23.0 ppg and was chosen the MVP in the American South Conference in his senior season by the league's head coaches. Prior to his career at UNO, he played at San Jacinto Junior College, averaging 23.6 ppg.

Stephanie READY

Assistant Coach

Stephanie Ready was named assistant coach of the Greenville Groove of the National Basketball Development League (NBDL), making her the first woman to coach in men's professional sports. She helped guide the team to the league's inaugural championship in 2002 and was with the team until it folded in the summer of 2003.

Prior to coming to the NBDL, Ready spent two seasons as an assistant coach for the men's basketball program at Coppin State College for head coach Ron "Fang" Mitchell. She was the first and only female to hold the position of full-time recruiting assistant on a men's basketball staff in NCAA Division I. She was hired as the men's assistant basketball coach in 1999, while continuing her duties as the head volleyball coach.

Ready was a four-year starter on the women's basketball team after walking on at Coppin State. She ended her collegiate basketball career among Coppin State's all-time top 10 in points, rebounds, assists and steals. Ready graduated cum laude with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Psychology.

SUPPORT STAFF

Annemarie FRANCIS

Athletic Trainer

Annemarie Francis enters her first season with the Washington Mystics. While providing athletic training coverage for Division I athletes, she earned a Master's degree in Sports Medicine from Georgia State University in 1997.

She volunteered as a certified athletic trainer during the Centennial Olympic Games at the Morehouse Basketball Venue in Atlanta, Georgia. She spent the following six years caring for student-athletes in the high school setting and most recently joined the outpatient clinical setting of the INOVA Health System.

Jonathan JONES

Rhonda Ballute joined Washington Sports and Entertainment in 1981. Under her current position, she oversees the Mystics and Wizards Customer Service and Ticket Operations departments. Ballute is responsible for fulfilling all benefits associated with being a Mystics plan holder and was instrumental in assigning seat locations for the new Mystics season ticket holders when the team joined the league in 1998. The Mystics "pro-active" philosophy of being responsive to our plan holders needs is exemplified in a program she directs, known as our "Season Ticket Holder-A-Day" calls. In this initiative, top management focuses on calling season ticket holders throughout the year to hear feed back about their game experiences.

Ann NICOLAIDES

Vice President of Marketing and Game Operations

This season marks Ann's sixth year overseeing the marketing for the Washington Mystics, Washington Wizards and selected events at MCI Center and Patriot Center. Nicolaides' responsibilities include the strategic planning and execution of direct response, advertising, promotions, internet marketing, and research efforts. In addition, she manages concourse and game operations for the teams.

Nicolaides joined Washington Sports & Entertainment after seven years at Trahan, Burden & Charles Advertising Agency as vice president, management supervisor. She was responsible for the strategic planning and overall management of the Baltimore Ravens, Baltimore Orioles and Maryland Lottery accounts.

VICE PRESIDENT

Mark SCHIPONI

Vice President of Sales

Mark Schiponi returns to Washington Sports and Entertainment after spending the last two years with the PGA Tour as Vice President, Sales and Marketing. Prior to working with the PGA, Schiponi was Vice President of Corporate Marketing with the Wizards and the Mystics.

Schiponi, a graduate of the University of South Carolina, spent four years as a television reporter before joining Washington Sports in 1987.

Mark and his wife, Christine, reside in Kensington, MD with their three children Garrett, Alex and Jenna.

Rich BRAND

Legal Counsel

Richard L. Brand is a Member in the General Business Group of Arent Fox PLLC, with an emphasis on sports law, real estate and corporate transactions, electronic commerce, and partnership and corporate law. In the area of sports law, Rich represents the Washington Wizards and the Washington Mystics in all aspects of their operations, including contract negotiation, player trades, and NBA and WNBA matters.

Rich is also involved in all facets of the MCI Center's operations, including financing and refinancings, naming rights, sponsorship and promotional agreement. 2003 TEAM NOTES

AWARD WINNERS: Washington Mystics Guard Kiesha Brown received the Off-season Community Assist Award on July 24th, 2003. The award honors the WNBA player who reflects the passion that the league and its players have for their communities. The WNBA donated $5000 to "Send a Kid to Camp" a division of the Family & Child Services of Washington, D.C. on behalf of Kiesha.

ATTENDANCE CHAMPS: For the second consecutive year, the Mystics were crowned attendance champions. This is the fifth time in the Mystics six-year history that the team has received this honor. The Mystics averaged more than 14,000 fans per game. In six years, the Mystics have welcomed more than one million fans to its game.

IT'S OFFENSIVE: The Mystics finished the regular season leading the league in offensive rebounds per game with 11.24.

All-STAR: Chamique Holdsclaw was selected as an Eastern Conference starter to the 2003 WNBA All-Star Game for the fifth consecutive year. Before the game, Holdsclaw was recognized as one of five women to have appeared in every All-Star Game. She was joined by Los Angeles' Lisa Leslie, Houston's Tina Thompson, New York's Teresa Weatherspoon and Connecticut's Nykesha Sales. Holdsclaw received 83,750 votes. She played 15 minutes and scored six points in the game, hosted by her home state of New York.

MIQUE ACCOMPLISHMENTS: Chamique Holdsclaw was named the 2003 Bud Light Peak performer for rebounding. The program honors the league's leading scorer and top rebounder during the regular season. Holdsclaw averages 10.9 rebounds per game and finished second in scoring with 20.5 points per game.

MILLER TIME: The 2002 Most Improved Player of the Year Coco Miller steadily improved on her numbers from the 2002 season. In 2002, she averaged 9.3 points per game. Miller finished the 2003 season averaging 12.5 (second on the team). She set a new career-high with 23 points against the Charlotte Sting on August 14th. Miller led the Mystics in scoring in seven games this season (tied with Holdsclaw on 6/1-10pts. And 8/14-23 pts.) She led all scorers in two of those games (6/6-15 pts., 6/10-18 pts.)

D2: Chamique Holdsclaw recorded 14 double-doubles for the 2003 season. She averaged a double-double for the season with 20.5 points per game and 10.9 rebounds per game. She finished second in the league to Cheryl Ford in double-doubles. Ford finished with 15. Last Season Holdsclaw also recorded 14 double-doubles.

ROCKY TOP: Although Chamique Holdsclaw only needed nine points to reach 2,000 career points and two rebounds for 1,000 career boards, she recorded 17 points and 12 rebounds against the Indiana Fever on May 31st, 2003. By reaching these milestones in her 114th WNBA game, Holdsclaw became the third fastest WNBA player to 2,000 points and the fourth fastest to 1,000 rebounds. She also became the first player to reach both of these milestones in the same game.

THE ORIGINAL: Murriel Page set a personal record against the Connecticut Sun on June 13th, 2003. She surpassed the 1000th rebound mark when she recorded 11 rebounds in the Mystics loss to the Sun. Page, the only original Mystics left on the squad, has played for Washington since its inaugural season in 1998.

POW: Chamique Holdsclaw was named the WNBA Player of the Week for games played Monday, July 14th through Sunday, July 20. Holdsclaw averaged 24.0 points, 10.0 rebounds, 3.7 assists, 1.66 steals, and shot 80% from the free throw line (28-for-35) on the week while averaging 35.7 minutes per game.

WNBA HISTORY

On April 24, 1996, women's basketball announced "We Got Next" as the NBA Board of Governors approved the concept of a Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) to begin play in June 1997.

Since that day in 1996 there have been many firsts for the WNBA: Val Ackerman -- the first president of the WNBA; Sheryl Swoopes -- the first player signed to the WNBA; Cynthia Cooper -- the league's first Most Valuable Player; the Houston Comets -- the first WNBA Champions; Lisa Leslie -- the first WNBA player to dunk.

However, the very first for the league was a "to-do list." With less than 15 months to tipoff, a league of its own began to unfold for the WNBA as each task was completed. The history of the WNBA follows:

On the Air . . .

Before a player was signed or a staff member was in place, the league announced its broadcast partnerships with NBC, ESPN and Lifetime Television. It was decided that the WNBA season would be played in the summer when the sports calendar was less crowded and the games could be televised live. During a successful inaugural season, more than 50 million viewers watched WNBA games on the three networks.

ESPN2 joined NBC and ESPN to televise WNBA games beginning in 2001 and carried live coverage of the WNBA Draft. Lifetime, which had carried games during the first four seasons, continued as a partner, presenting Players' Journal, a weekly half-hour magazine show highlighting the on and off-court lives of the league's players and coaches.

Oxygen Media signed on to televise WNBA games in 2002, and ABC Sports became a new partner through a six-year agreement that extended the WNBA's national television coverage through 2008, its 12th season. Telemundo, the fastest growing Spanish language television network in the U.S., and NBA TV, the league's 24-hour television network, also joined ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and Oxygen to carry WNBA games beginning in 2003.

WNBA games and programming reached the largest global audience since the league's inception in 2002, with WNBA content broadcast to 178 countries in 24 languages. The league delivers an audience unique in sports. In-arena, gender breakdown is approximately 80-20 female-male. The TV audience is about 50-50 female-male, with a strong percentage of non-adult viewers.

The Players and the Teams. . .

The first of the player signings was announced on October 23, 1996, with Sheryl Swoopes and Rebecca Lobo joining the league. The duo was soon followed by Lisa Leslie, Ruthie Bolton, Cynthia Cooper, Michele Timms (the first international player) and many more WNBA hopefuls.

Eight teams were announced for the league's inaugural season. The Eastern Conference consisted of the Charlotte Sting, Cleveland Rockers, Houston Comets and New York Liberty while the Western Conference was comprised of the Los Angeles Sparks, Phoenix Mercury, Sacramento Monarchs and Utah Starzz.

On April 29, 1999, the WNBA and the Women's National Basketball Players Association (WNBPA) announced on the league's first collective bargaining agreement - a first of its kind in women's team sports. By 2002, the league had expanded to 16 teams, with the Detroit Shock and Washington Mystics joining the league in 1998, the Minnesota Lynx and Orlando Miracle in 1999, and the Indiana Fever, Miami Sol, Portland Fire and Seattle Storm in 2000.

The 2002 season saw 176 women play professional basketball in 256 regular-season WNBA games (schedule history: 34 games in 2003; 32 games from 1999-2002; 30 in 1998; 28 in 1997). Continuing to showcase talented stars from around the world, the league featured 45 players from 22 countries.

In October 2002, the NBA Board of Governors voted to restructure the WNBA to allow individual team ownership, and to allow teams to be owned by non-NBA owners and located in non-NBA markets. Orlando, Miami, Portland and Utah elected not to assume ownership of their teams, and in December, the WNBA announced the relocation of the Utah Starzz to San Antonio, which had previously been awarded a WNBA franchise. The team would be named the Silver Stars.

On January 28, 2003, the Connecticut Sun became the newest WNBA franchise, with the Mohegan Sun becoming the first non-NBA owner in league history. With 14 teams in place for the 2003 season, the WNBA was set to enter its seventh season as the leading women's professional basketball league in the world.

The WNBA Draft . . .

The Comets selected Tina Thompson, the Pac-10 Conference's leading scorer, with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft. Margo Dydek, a 7-2 center from Poland, was selected first in the 1998 Draft by the Starzz, and two-time Associated Press Women's Basketball Player of the Year Chamique Holdsclaw was the Washington Mystics' No. 1 selection in the 1999 Draft. In 2000, the Cleveland Rockers selected Ann Wauters from Belgium as the first overall pick, and Australian Olympian Lauren Jackson went to the Seattle Storm with the No. 1 selection in 2001. In 2002, National Player of the Year Sue Bird was selected by Seattle, who had the top pick for the second consecutive year by virtue of the WNBA's first Draft Lottery, held in New York on November 13, 2001.

The Logos and the Uniforms . . .

With players and teams in place, the league began its next task of creating logos and uniforms. The red, white and blue official WNBA logo - "Logo Woman" - was selected from about 50 different designs. After developing an extensive list of choices, the team names were selected by the league and the teams based on numerous factors, including: a tie to the NBA team name in that market, a link to a key characteristic of each city or state and/or the creation of a name fitting the current sports landscape. The uniforms also underwent several designs, and on May 21, 1997, the WNBA unveiled the team uniforms -- two shorts silhouettes and three jerseys.

WNBA HISTORY

It's a Ball Game . . .

The WNBA game consists of a 30-second clock, a 19-foot, 9-inch three-point line, two 20-minute halves, eleven-player rosters and a collegiate-regulation size ball. The WNBA's signature orange-and-oatmeal basketball by Spalding is 28.5 inches in circumference and one inch smaller than the NBA's regulation ball. In January 2003, Spalding Sports Worldwide and the WNBA announced the Spalding WNBA Infusion basketball, featuring a built-in, dual action Micro Pump®, as the new official game ball of the league beginning in the 2003 season.

Millions of Fans Join In . . .

The inaugural WNBA season tipped off on June 21, 1997, with the New York Liberty taking on the Los Angeles Sparks at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, Calif. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in WNBA history. The Liberty defeated the Sparks 67-57. Then on August 22, the WNBA league attendance surpassed the 1 million mark at America West Arena in Phoenix. In 2001, the WNBA welcomed its 10 millionth fan on September 1 at the STAPLES Center in Los Angeles. In 2002, more than 2.5 million fans attended WNBA games for the second straight year, as regular-season attendance averaged more than 9,000 fans for the sixth straight season.

Fans Get Connected Online...

The league website, WNBA.com, is the single most authoritative source of information for WNBA fans around the world offering late-breaking news, real-time scores, statistics, behind-the-scenes access, video highlights, the most comperhensive women's sports fantasy basketball game, WNBA Virtual GM, live chats with WNBA players and personalities, expert analysis from WNBA insiders and complete websites for all 14 WNBA teams.

On May 31, 2003 WNBA.com featured the first-ever live video webcast of a game in women's professional sports history when the Detroit Shock played the Charlotte Sting. The success of the groundbreaking webcast lead to the launch of WNBA Broadband Season Pass, a multimedia subscription service featuring 10 additional live webcasts of WNBA games, WNBA Season Audio Pass and broadband highlights and features.

Overall the popularity of WNBA.com continues to soar. During the 2003 season, WNBA.com averaged over 60,000 visits per day.

In the Community . . .

For the WNBA, the focus has been three primary outreach initiatives: Read to Achieve, a year-round, league-wide initiative that promotes the value of reading and on-line literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children; the Breast Health Awareness program, an initiative designed to draw national attention to the issue of breast cancer and the importance of early detection; and the Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues that connects players, parents and coaches in an effort to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. In 2003, the league debuted its WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit. campaign, which encompasses the Breast Health Awareness program but also focuses on nutrition, exercise and positive self-image.

League Showcases All-Stars . . .

On July 14, 1999, the league held the Inaugural WNBA All-Star Game at Madison Square Garden in New York, televised live on ESPN. The capacity crowd of 18,649 witnessed the incredible sportsmanship, teamwork, enthusiasm, fan involvement and in-arena excitement that characterizes the WNBA. The Western Conference All-Stars - led by the game's Most Valuable Player and Los Angeles Sparks center Lisa Leslie - defeated the Eastern Conference 79-61.

All-Star excitement continued in 2000 as the game moved to the America West Arena in Phoenix on July 17. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 73-61 before a crowd of 17,717 as Houston's Tina Thompson captured MVP honors. Leslie earned her second All-Star MVP award at the 2001 WNBA All-Star Game, played at the TD Waterhouse Centre in Orlando, Fla., on July 16 in front of 16,906 fans. The West claimed its third victory with an 80-72 defeat of the East. The 2002 WNBA All-Star Game was played on Monday, July 15 in Washington, D.C., at the MCI Center. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 81-76 in front of a crowd of 19,487, with Leslie earning MVP honors for the third time. ESPN televised the game live through the 2002 game.

In 2003, the WNBA All-Star Game marked its fifth anniversary with a return to Madison Square Garden on July 12. The event was held on the weekend for the first time and made its network television debut on ABC. The West All-Stars won the event for the fifth straight year by beating the East All-Stars 84-75 in front of 18,610 fans, with Nikki Teasley of the Los Angeles Sparks taking home the MVP honors.

WNBA Finals...

The first four years of the WNBA saw the Houston Comets dominate the league Finals and create the first dynasty of the WNBA. The Comets captured the inaugural Championship against New York on August 30, 1997 by a score of 65-51. Comets guard, Cynthia Cooper won the first Finals MVP award. In 1998, the WNBA Finals was expanded to a three-game series and Houston defeated Phoenix two games to one and Houston's Cynthia Cooper captured her second consecutive Finals MVP award. In 1999, New York advanced back to the Championship and played Houston, a rematch of the 1997 Championship game. The Comets out lasted the Liberty to win their third straight WNBA Championship, two games to one and Houston's Cynthia Cooper won her third Finals MVP award. In 2000, Houston and New York played for the third time in four years with the results the same as the previous years with Houston winning their fourth straight WNBA Championship, two games to none and Houston's Cynthia Cooper captured her fourth straight Finals MVP award. In 2001, Los Angeles knocked off Houston in the early rounds of the Western Conference playoffs and advanced on to meet Charlotte in the WNBA Finals. Los Angeles, behind the play of Finals MVP Lisa Leslie, won the WNBA Finals two games to none. In 2002, Los Angeles advanced to the WNBA Finals and earned the right to defend their WNBA championship versus New York. The Sparks defeated the Liberty two games to zero and won their second consecutive Finals and Lisa Leslie won the WNBA Finals MVP award for the second straight year.

In 2003, the Los Angeles Sparks returned to the Finals with the opportunity to win three straight WNBA Championships. However, the Detroit Shock advanced through the Eastern Conference and reached the Finals and because they finished the regular season with the best record in the league, they earned home court advantage for the Finals. It ended up be vital as the Sparks won the first game in Los Angeles to take a one game to zero lead. Detroit bounced back to win game two, 62-61 to even the series one game a piece. The third and final game was played in front of a sell out crowd and record attendance for the WNBA of 22,076. The Shock captured the WNBA crown winning the game by a score of 83-78 as Detroit center Ruth Riley was awarded the Series MVP.

WE GOT GAME . . .

Women's basketball has come a long way since its beginnings in 1892 when Senda Berenson adapted James Naismith's basketball rules for women. And with the continued growth of the WNBA, the sport is sure to go even further. For more information on the WNBA and its history, log onto http://www.wnba.com.

WNBA Changes

Rule Changes

The league will adopt three playing rules changes beginning with the 2004 season. The three-point line will be moved from 19' 9" to the international distance of 20' 6¼", and the lane will be widened from 12' to the NBA width of 16'. In addition, the 30-second shot clock will be reset to 20 seconds (as opposed to 30 seconds under the previous rule) when a defensive foul or other defensive violation occurs with less than 20 seconds remaining on the shot clock, and will be left unchanged when a defensive violation occurs with 20 seconds or more remaining on the shot clock.

TIEBREAK PROCEDURE

Two-way tie between teams in the same conference. In order to break a tie, the following criteria will be utilized in the order set forth:

2) Better winning percentage within own conference.
3) Better winning percentage against all teams with .500 or better record at the end of the season.
4) Better point differential in games head-to-head.

Two-way tie between teams in different conferences. In order to break a tie, the following criteria will be utilized in the order set forth:

4) Better point differential in games head-to-head.
5) Coin toss.

More than two teams tied. As many as possible will be eliminated at each step. As soon as one or more teams are eliminated at any step, the process must begin again from step (1).

1) Better winning percentage among all head-to-head games involving tied teams.
2) Better winning percentage against teams within conference (if all teams are from the same conference) or better record against teams in the opposite conference (if one or more teams are in different conferences).
3) Better winning percentage against all teams with a .500 or better record at the end of the season.
4) Better point differential in games involving tied teams.
5) Coin toss.

PLAYOFF FORMAT

The 2004 WNBA Playoffs will begin on Friday September 24th.

The top four teams from each conference will qualify for the 2004 WNBA Playoffs.

First Round competition will match-up the first and fourth place teams and the second and third place teams from each conference in a best-of-three series with the team with the worst record hosting the first game. The series will then move to the other city for the next two games.

The winners of the first round series in each conference will play in a best-of-three conference final.

The two conference final champions will meet in a best-of-three championship series.

2004 WNBA COMMUNITY INITIATIVES

The WNBA connects with fans of all ages through extensive community outreach. As we mark the eighth season of the WNBA, our players continue to be recognized for their commitment and dedication to fans in cities across America. The WNBA has three primary community initiatives: WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit., WNBA Read to Achieve and Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA presented by Gatorade and Nike. In addition to these initiatives, the WNBA honors players who are active in their communities with the WNBA Community Assist Award presented four times a year.

WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit.

The WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit. program is the league's primary cause-related campaign focusing on two main components - nutrition, exercise and positive self-image and breast health awareness. The platform focuses on the development and execution of events and programs that emphasize the importance of good nutrition, regular exercise and positive-self image and targets our youth fan base as well as their families.

WNBA Breast Health Awareness

The WNBA Breast Health Awareness program focuses on generating awareness and educating women about breast cancer in addition to raising funds for the initiative. For the second year, the WNBA is proud to have the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation as a partner and beneficiary of the program. In 2003, the WNBA and its teams raised more than $150,000 to benefit the Komen Foundation. Breast health information will be distributed to fans during in-arena awareness nights and a breast health awareness public service announcement will air on nationally televised games and in-arena. Once again, fans will have the opportunity to log onto WNBA.com to bid on their favorite item featured in the Breast Health Awareness Auction. All proceeds from these items, including games of HORSE with WNBA stars, All-Star memorabilia and WNBA autographed items, will benefit the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation.

WNBA Read to Achieve

Read to Achieve is a year-round, league-wide initiative supported by NBA, WNBA and NBDL teams that promotes the values of reading and on-line literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children. The program includes thousands of reading time-outs, the donation of books and literacy materials, and the creation of Reading and Learning Centers and Reading Corners throughout the world. National and local All-Star Reading Teams have been formed consisting of current and former NBA and WNBA players and other members of the NBA and WNBA family, who promote reading efforts through in-arena events, public service announcements and school and community appearances throughout the year.

Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA Presented by Gatorade and Nike

The Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, presented by Gatorade and Nike, is a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues in the United States, Canada and abroad that connects players, parents, coaches and officials to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. Approximately 1,000 youth basketball leagues and about 50,000 teams (for boys and girls, ages 5-14 years-old) are 2003-2004 Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA members. Additionally, 100,000 coaches and 500,000 players and their parents receive program support and materials. WNBA players and coaches make drop-in visits and participate in special events with Jr. WNBA leagues across the country.

MYSTICS IN THE COMMUNITY

Suited for Change

On July 23 the Mystics will host its annual Suited for Change collection night at the Minnsota Lynx game at MCI Center. Suited for Change works with local homeless shelters and social service organizations to outfit women and counsel them on job interview skills. Every fan attending the game, who donates professional women's clothing and/or accessories, will receive a ticket to a future Mystics game.

Pollin Award

The Mystics honor the D.C. area's top volunteers with the Pollin Award, sponsored by D.C. Lottery. Local schools, community organizations and companies have the opportunity to nominate their top volunteers who show exceptional dedication to their community. Winners are chosen based on their volunteer activities and how they impact their community. Winners receive 2 tickets to a designated Mystics game and are presented the Pollin Award at half-time of the game. Log onto www.washingtonmystics.com for an application form.

Hoopsmark Reading Incentive

The Mystics host a summer reading incentive program geared towards youth 9-15 years old. Children are required to read 12 books throughout their summer break in order to win player bookmarks and a Mystics grand prize. The program runs from June - September. Materials are available throughout D.C., Fairfax County, Takoma Park and Prince Georges County local public libraries.

Court Refurbishing

The Mystics & Wizards refurbish two outdoor basketball sites each year with the help of Nike and Sprite. One site will be completed in the summer and one will be completed in the fall. At the completion of each site, the Mystics and Wizards host a ribbon cutting ceremony and skills clinic for the neighborhood kids.

Breast Health Awareness

The WNBA and the Mystics target women of all ages, to increase Breast Health Awareness by encouraging an understanding of what women can do to prevent and fight the disease. National sponsors and local sponsors, including Howard University Hospital will host a Breast Health Awareness Night at the June 4th Mystics vs. the Connecticut Sun game at MCI Center. Educational brochures and the pink ribbons will be handed out and fans will have the opportunity to sign up for a free mammography screening.

MYSTICS IN THE COMMUNITY

Read to Achieve

Read to Achieve is the WNBA's year-round, league wide initiative to promote the values of reading and online literacy and encourage families and adults to read regularly with young children. The Mystics participate in several programs as a part of the Read to Achieve initiative, including:

Reading Time-Outs: The Mystics will host a Reading Time-out each month at a local library to promote the importance of reading.
When We Score, You Score: For each point a designated Mystics player scores during each month, a book will be donated to a local charity organization.
All-Star Reading Team: National and local members attend various Read to Achieve events throughout the year. The team includes Mayor Williams, area police officers and Mystics players Murriel Page and Chamique Holdsclaw.

The Mystics will host its Read to Achieve night on July 28th at the Detroit Shock game at MCI Center.

JR. WNBA

The Jr. WNBA is a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues that connects players, parents and coaches in an effort to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. More than 350,000 boys and girls from all 50 U.S. states, Canada and abroad take part in youth basketball leagues affiliated with the Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA presented by Gatorade and Nike. The program provides already existing leagues with league support programs, and guides for the coaches, players and parents. The guides provide the knowledge on how to teach drills and shooting, information for parents on how to approach their kids about basketball, and information on sportsmanship for the coaches, parents and children. The goal is to provide kids with a great experience in the game of basketball.

Community Assist Awards

In June, July and August, the WNBA will choose one player from across the league for the Community Assist Award and will donate $5000 in the name of that player to the charity of her choice. On-court presentations to the winning player will occur during a home game at the end of each month.

Community Tickets

The Community Relations department distributes tickets to pre-selected Mystics games to charitable organizations throughout the Washington D.C., metropolitan area. The department currently works with over 300 groups. If your organization is interested in receiving community tickets to a Mystics game, please send a request letter, on company letterhead, to Community Relations, MCI Center, 601 F Street, NW, Washington, D.C., 20004.

Donations & Player Appearances

If your organization is interested in a donation from the Washington Mystics or would like a Mystics player to attend an upcoming event, please send a letter of request, on company letterhead, to Community Relations, MCI Center, 601 F Street, NW, Washington, D.C., 20004. Make sure to include the date of the event, if you are looking for a specific player and contact information.

MEDIA INFORMATION

CREDENTIALS: Credentials will be distributed on a game-by-game basis and should be requested in writing on company letterhead by the Editor or Sports Director of your company. Requests should be faxed to the Mystics Public Relations department and submitted at least 24 hours in advance. Press and photo credentials are issued to accredited media members and will admit the bearer to the press room, locker rooms and press seating in the arena during the designated time periods. Credentials may be picked up at the press gate located at the corner of 6th and G Streets of MCI Center, two-and-a-half-hours before tip-off. Credentials must be visibly worn at all times.

PRESS ROOM: The press room will be open two-and-a-half hours before game time, during and following the game. The professional intent of the press room is to provide a meeting and working place for writers, reporters, broadcasters and game personnel. Any abuse of the press room and/or press privilege will result in forfeiture of your press pass. The working area of the press room is equipped with a fax machine, telephones, statistics, post-game quotes and other WNBA information.

LOCKER ROOM: In accordance with WNBA policy, both the Mystics and the visiting locker rooms will be open to members of the media for a 30-minute period ending 60 minutes before the start of a game, and again, after every game for a 30-minute period starting no later than ten minutes following the end of the game. Head Coach Michael Adams will meet with the media following the game in the interview room directly next to the press room. No autographs are allowed by credentialed media. Violation of this policy will result in forfeiture of your press pass.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Limited space is available at each end of the court for both television and still photographers holding proper credentials. Photographers must stay in the designated areas and are asked to be considerate of spectators seated directly behind them.

MEALS: A meal will be served in the press room prior to each game.

GAME NOTES AND STATISTICS: Pre-game press notes, media guides and line-up sheets will be available in the interview room prior to each game. Game statistics will be distributed to the working media during the game and will be available in the press room.
